About me

I am a 21-year-old web development student at Business Academy South West with expertise in frontend, full-stack development, and database management. My passion lies in transforming innovative ideas into engaging and functional web applications, with a strong focus on clean code and user-centered design. Proficient in technologies such as JavaScript, PHP, MySQL, and Vue.js, I am committed to building seamless digital experiences that enhance web interaction. I look forward to applying my skills to high-level development projects and further refining my technical expertise.
